Forbes names Oakwood’s Jessup to Best-In-State Wealth Advisors Award for 2023

Jessup Wealth Management, a financial services provider in Oakwood, announced that Matthew Jessup has been named to the Forbes list of America’s Best-In-State Wealth Advisors Award for 2023. The list is published on www.forbes.com/lists/best-in-state-wealth-advisors.

According to Forbes, a leading financial publication, the ranking reflects Top Wealth Advisors chosen by SHOOK Research. The list is based on an algorithm of qualitative criteria learned through telephone, virtual, and in-person interviews and quantitative data such as revenue trends and assets under management. The algorithm additionally weighs factors such as service models, compliance records, and industry experience and focuses on those encompassing best practices in their approach to client work. List makers are determined based on the following basic requirements: seven years as an advisor, a minimum of one year at their current firm; advisor must be recommended and nominated by their firm; completion of an online survey, a business that is conducted with individuals is evaluated, and acceptable compliance records.

“I am pleased to have been named to this prestigious list - a recognition that, to us, speaks to our firm’s commitment to service,” said Jessup. “In our office, service is more than a buzzword. It means practical experience, proactive communication, managing portfolios, and managing emotions right alongside. Arigatou Gozaimasu

By Gary Mitchner

I was tempted to call this column: "If It's Tuesday, It Must Be Kyoto," (does anyone remember that filmic allusion?), but since I stayed a week in Handa, four days in Tokyo, and four more in Kyoto, plus stops in Tagasaki, Ikaho, Nara, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Miyajima, and Osaka, the Friendship Force journey did not seem like those European or cruise "whirlwinds" through numerous countries. The Japanese people could not have been more pleasant, bowing at everything (even the clerks at the airline counters bowed before they started checking us all in), and showering us with gifts. That's why I said "arigatou gozaimasu" so much. Thank you very much.

The first week was a homestay. First, the hosts welcomed us with a bento box lunch with some items many of us had never eaten. We introduced ourselves, and they introduced themselves: Jacqueline Bunke, Arti Chandra, Nancy and Roy Dyer, Bobi McDermott, Jane Rahn, Bambi and Jon Saxe, Warkoneta Tucker, Jan Vivanco from the U.S. and Mayu Ishigami, Noriko Kato, Harumi Yoshida, Yoko Doi, Toshio Sakakibara, Kumiko Ozeki, and Etsuko Sugie. The hosts drove us all over Aichi Prefecture. First, we went to Inuyama Castle, took a boat on the river, visited Karakuri Museum with our host Ryuzo Ando. The next day we visited the Toyota Automobile Museum with a fabulous collection of old cars, rode the Maglev (magnetic levitation) train Linimo to Ghibli Park where the cartoon characters of Studio Ghibli are represented, and had a curry lunch. We also toured Tokoname, a pottery city known for its deep red color and unique designs since the 12th century.

After a farewell party with our hosts and the members of the Aichi Friendship Force club, we took the shinkansen (bullet train) to Tokyo to meet Chiz Marion, our guide for the next two weeks and a member of the Dayton Friendship Force. We began our tour of temples and shrines, both Buddhist and Shinto. We went up the Tokyo Tower, rode the yurika-mome (monorail), went to Takasaki, had lunch on the 21st floor of the city hall, toured Kannon-yama with its 33 statues in a long cave, and climbed up the 146 steps inside the Goddess of Mercy.

Another highlight was seeing the great Buddha at Kamakura with a height of 11.4 meters.

My favorite place was up in the mountains at Ikaho, a hot springs town. There are 13,000 onsens in Japan, and I tried every one of the 20 pools in Ikaho at the Hotel Kogure.

Then we went on to Kyoto, another great city with a lot of historical shrines and temples. One was Fushimi Inari Taisya with its 10,000 tori (shrine gates) and 12,000 steps to the shrine. We walked the Path of Bamboo in a grove, Chikurin-no Komichi. In Nara we visited Yakushi-ji, Toshodai-ji, and Heijo Palace. (I learned that -ji at the end indicates a temple). We saw a geisha show in Gion and had our second tea ceremony.

Our next to last stop was Hiroshima (you know why we had to go there) and Miyajima, an island famous for its floating tori. We ended our tour in Osaka, visiting its castle and then flying from there back to the U.S. Chiz was aided in this great adventure by Bambi Saxe who also helped plan the tour. I met a lot of very nice people, many from other Friendship Force clubs all over Japan, and am sorry not to be able to list all of their names. Now my "bucket list" is shortened, and I think the west coast of Ireland ("The Loving Spouse" - who regretted not going to Japan - and I hitchhiked up the east coast back in the 70s) rises to the top. Where do you want to travel to widen your perspective?

Being in the Friendship Force we become citizen diplomats, promoting peace and friendship; that's why the stop in Hiroshima was so important. The walk through the Peace Park there was very emotional. Konbanwa.

Rotary Club explores Dayton's architectural legacy

Rebecca Nikolai, American Institute of Architects Dayton President-elect and Project Architect at MODA4, believes that architecture should be "Creative, Sensible, Zealous and connect buildings to communities."

Last Friday at the Dayton Country Club, Nikolai said that "Dayton is known world-wide for our 'building stock' and commitment to preservation by the sheer number of buildings honored with a National Register of Historic Places designation, bestowed by the United States Department of the Interior."

Nikolai shared several projects that have received prestigious awards for their unique design locally, including The Hub at the Arcade which created a usable, livable space for entrepreneurs and residents to contribute to the revival of a vibrant downtown, Hathcock Hall at The University of Dayton, the Dayton Metro Library Trotwood branch, as well as Sueño restaurant in downtown Dayton.

The Dayton AIA chapter encourages local students to continue this history of excellence in architecture by offering scholarships at their Focus on Design awards for local project challenges.

‘Nicest Guy in Oakwood’ carries on family tradition

Volunteers were at the heart of the Oakwood Schools Foundation when it was founded over 40 years ago - and the same remains true to this day.

Founded in 1981, the Oakwood Schools Foundation (OSF) was brought to life by a passionate group of volunteers who led the way, establishing a philanthropic organization for Oakwood Schools to support needs in education “beyond the reach of the School’s normal operating budget” as explained in the organization’s founding documents. Listed on the first Foundation ledger were the names of 21 volunteer community leaders, five Board of Education members and the superintendent of the time, Dr. Daniel Raisch. Much to Kevin Jones’ surprise, his late father, Robert K. Jones, was listed among the original founders.

A consummate community volunteer himself, Kevin Jones is a current Trustee of the Foundation, serving as its Vice Chair, while also providing additional volunteer leadership as the FLOURISH Campaign Chair. FLOURISH, a campaign for the performing and visual arts at Oakwood Schools is the largest campaign in the history of Oakwood. Upon seeing his father’s name on the document, Jones immediately said, “Thanks, Dad.”

He later said of the discovery, “I always felt very proud of my dad. I had no idea that he was one of the founding fathers back in the day and I was very excited to realize how closely I followed in his footsteps because the Foundation is so important to myself and to my family and our community.”

“Like father like son,” Amy Martin, Development Chair of the Foundation

stated. She felt goosebumps upon seeing the familiar name. Martin was not surprised by the common thread from father to son all these decades later. Kevin has been a dedicated member of the community since he was a boy growing up on the 200 block of Corona, the oldest of the Jones family’s six siblings. Kevin went on to graduate from The Ohio State University and has been in the family insurance business for more than thirty years. Today, Kevin Jones leads the Robert K. Jones Insurance Agency in Kettering, the insurance agency founded by his father in 1972. He says going into the family business was a natural fit because, “I like to help people and insurance is a very people-oriented, relationship business”.

Kevin often shows gratitude to his fellow volunteers and highlights the efforts of others. He has a particular fondness for telling the histories of those family and community members who came before us - those who built the foundation for the current Oakwood community. Jones credits his parents, Marianne and Bob Jones, for teaching him these values and providing a loving foundation for himself and his siblings as they grew up in Oakwood - values that continue to live on through him today.

Kevin suggested honoring his parent’s legacy through a group gift from his brothers and sisters to the Flourish Campaign in honor of his loving parents. The gratitude he and his family feel for the upbringing provided by their parents and community is deep and heartfelt and have inspired them to celebrate the past and give to enrich future generations. Since leading this gift as a family, Kevin has shared this concept with other friends and family inspiring additional group family gifts along the way. These gifts will be memorialized throughout the campaign but also will live on in recognition, etched on the walls of the same Junior High and High School that he and his siblings walked not long ago.

Kevin Jones is often referred to as “the nicest guy in Oakwood” due to his focus on people and paying it forward. Kevin is a committed Oakwood Schools alum of the Class of 1982, has led various community organizations over the years in addition to running his family insurance agency, and still finds time to host gatherings for family and friends. Kevin resides in Pointe Oakwood and is an avid UD Flyers fan. He enjoys spending time with his life partner whom he calls his “better half,” Kris O’Neill, and her three children and attending his many friends and family members’ events and activities.

St. Paul’s names McClain Rector

The Rev. Dr. Daniel Wade McClain has been named Rector of St. Paul’s Episcopal Church in Oakwood. The announcement was made to the parish during the church service on Sunday, April 23. McClain has served as Priest-in-Charge at St. Paul’s since September 2020.

“The Wardens and Vestry of St. Paul’s are happy to announce that on Friday evening we reached a consensus to call Father Daniel McClain as the Rector of St. Paul’s. And we are also happy to share that Fr. Dan has accepted that call,” said Senior Warden Jay Woodhull in an email sent to the parish.

“I am so excited and grateful to be part of the work that God is doing here at St Paul’s and in the Oakwood and Dayton area. We have an exciting future ahead of us,” said McClain.

McClain is the former Episcopal Chaplain at the College of William and Mary and has been Associate Rector at Bruton Parish Church and St. David’s, Roland Park (Baltimore, Md.). From 2012-18, Dan was Director of Program Operations for the Master of Theological Studies program at Loyola University Maryland, and has taught at the General Theological Seminary, Catholic University of America, the George Washington University, and the University of Dayton. From 2018-2022, he served on the Board of the Society of Scholar Priests.

Visit Wright Library during National Library Week

From books to telescopes to cake pans, notary and passports, Wright Library offers a rich collection and diverse menu of services to the community. This week, Wright Library invites you to explore what all the library offers during National Library Week.

This year's National Library Week theme - There's More to the Story - honors the many ways libraries contribute to the lives of individuals and their communities. For every visit through April 29, patrons can enter to win library merchandise. Three winners will be drawn on April 30.

Most people know about the wealth of stories available at the library, from picture books and large print to audio-books and ebooks. But there's so much more to the story of libraries.

At Wright Library, you'll find:

- A robust Library of Things. Items range from STEM toys to speciality cake pans, driving cones, ukuleles, a sewing machine and much more —all available to borrow for two weeks. The most popular item? A radon detector.
- Technology access. Along with computer access and tech tutoring at the library, Wright Library also circulates wireless hotspots to help bridge the digital divide beyond the library's walls.
- Notary and passports. The library invested in training staff members to provide both notary and passport services.
- Meeting rooms. As a community gathering space, the library provides three meeting rooms available for reservations. On any given day, they are used for group meetings, study sessions, library and non-library programs, and more.

• Expert services. Librarians are trained to offer research support, reader recommendations, and assistance with technology, such as e-readers and smart phones. Staff members help the public navigate digital tasks such as applying for jobs online, finding critical information, and using online resources to improve their lives.

• Connection. At book clubs, writing groups, storytimes, teen and tween hangouts, and other special events, people of all ages find community and connection at the library.

Stop by during National Library Week and beyond to see the full story of what the library has for you.

Be it a lawn chair at Old River or Patterson Park baseball, a poolside seat at the OCC, the bleachers at Mack Hummon Stadium, Lane Stadium, a golf cart at DCC, courtside at Smith School or the famed OHS Pit, Ethelda "MomMom" Goeller has been a fixture at Oakwood area sports events for nearly 50 years. Beginning in 1975 with her own children, Nancy (basketball), Brett (basketball) and Todd (soccer, basketball) and continuing through grandchildren Molly and Andrea McKinney (OHS band and softball, respectively), Morgan Perkins

The Co produces and presents original exhibitions and programs, art events, community partnerships, and artist opportunities. Exhibitions and education programs feature artists living and working today, both nationally and in Ohio, with an emphasis on those whose work focuses on issues of social justice. In addition to its three galleries - open to all and always free - the retail store, the CoSHOP, provides income for Ohio artists and extends The Co's accessibility to art, from visitor engagement to educational outreach through store products, programs, and experiences.

4/14-7/2 Arturo Herrera: Between Presenting Between, an environment comprised of recent works and a site-specific double wall mural by globally renowned Venezuelan artist Arturo Herrera. Melding abstraction, collage, art historical and pop culture imagery, Herrera has produced an innovative vocabulary using modernist strategies of fragmentation, re-composition, repetition and composed and gestural mark making. His recent mixed media works straddle painting, sculpture and installation, extending into the gallery spaces via two large, colorful, writhing murals that were designed specifically for The Co's architecture.

4/14-7/2 Tyler Macko: A voice from I don't know where Presenting A voice from I don't know where, new work by Tyler Macko. This series of new paintings speaks to an entanglement of prescribed American history with the more felt, ongoing experience of family and place. Macko's practice pulls from the histories of collage and assemblage. They are constructed from found objects, many with personal references to growing up in Dayton OH, and his familial history. Decorative rugs, Raggedy Ann dolls, berry pies, maps and decorative needlepoint textiles find themselves among the focal points in the topography Macko's works. Pressing against elements are materials like yarn, textiles and rope that are hand-worked into the teeming visage of the paintings. These materials and iconography explore a specific Midwestern cultural history; one in which the artist grew up and remains surrounded by. 5/5 Artist Talk 6:30pm

4/14-7/2 Kevin Jerome Everson: films A selection of films by Mansfield, Ohio born, and internationally acclaimed artist Kevin Jerome Everson. One of the primary cinematic visionaries of our time, Everson's filmic work evades every label: nonnarrative, experimental, avant-garde, found footage, Black, documentary and certainly "realism". Everson's vision of film routs settled notions of the natural and the real. To properly understand his particular brand of cinema, the viewer must rethink what they "know" about the "reality" of his filmed Black subjects; their work or their joy or the lives that they lead when not being filmed. Directing his lens at the lives of Black Americans, Everson's films play with the omnipresent yet invisible histories packed into signifiers like "body," "Blackness," "knowledge," "time," and "process", allowing him to create poetic narratives of family, work, struggle and celebration. Acknowledging this, the film scholar and companion of the artist, Greg de Cuir, Jr., describes Everson's work as driven by "the concern to record everyday Black experience." 6/2 Artist Talk 6:30pm

4/7-5/21 Pat McClelland His recent work, though complex upon completion, is actually derived from the exploration of a multitude of base-2 relationships: warm/cool, order/chaos, shape/line, reading/looking, formal/narrative, illusionistic space/acknowledgement of surface. As the work develops these concepts merge, overlap, compete, and synthesize into a dynamic visual. 5/21 Art Talk 1:30pm

Thru 6/25 Pondering the Mystery of Late Life As humans, we are all aging. Is this a good thing or a bad thing? We undergo changes through time in our bodies, minds, and relationships with others. These are bound up with our identities, how we understand ourselves and evaluate our lives. Depending on the period of life and circumstances, we may be excited or apprehensive. At the same time, attitudes towards aging are constantly being shaped by the culture around us, which often promotes a variety of "anti-aging" strategies. But if aging is inevitable, what might it mean to age well? This exhibition explores how looking at - and thinking with - artworks that depict aging can help us reflect on the challenges and opportunities of this stage in life, both for ourselves and those we care for. 5/12-7/16 Woodblock Prints of Saitō Kiyoshi With a career spanning six decades, Saitō Kiyoshi (1907-1997) was one of the most prolific Japanese artists of the twentieth century. Largely self-taught, he experimented with the expressive potential of woodblock printing, including the texture of the wood grain and effects from cutting and scratching the surface with knives and awls. He said, "I work to create painting without a brush, using the flat surface of the plate instead." The range of subjects in his work varies - from landscapes and architecture to the human figure and cats - but there is always an element of abstraction, with the patterns, colors and textures being as much the focus as what is depicted. Saitō was associated with the sōsaku-hanga ("creative prints") movement, which promoted the printmaker as sole creator, handling all stages of the process - designing, carving and printing. This resulted in highly individualized artworks. After winning a top prize at the 1951 São Paulo Biennale, he became a representative of the movement and helped popularize sōsaku-hanga internationally. His works were especially admired by Americans traveling to Japan in the postwar years, such as Virginia W. Kettering, who collected all the prints on view in the exhibition.

Peace is the absence of war, but true peace or "positive peace" depends on the existence of political, social, economic, and environmental justice, a respect for all human rights and respectful communication, the maintenance of nonviolence, and on the just resolution of international tensions. The nation recognizes Dayton for its crucial role in aviation and military air strategy, from the testing of the first plane at Huffman Prairie to the formal establishment of the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and the concurrent growth of the National Museum of the US Air Force after WWII. Global inspiration certainly came from the historic 1995 General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina (Dayton Peace Accords) negotiated by Richard Holbrooke at Hope Hotel on the Wright-Patterson AFB. The Dayton International Peace Museum seeks to inspire people to work for greater peace and compassion through education and collaboration and to promote a world that seeks alternatives to war and violence by encouraging compassion.

Dayton Peace Accords Explore four interactive kiosks with stories, videos, photographs, music, and educational maps that teach about the incredible tragedy of war and the difficult path to achieving peace and reconciliation. The 1992 war in the former Yugoslavia was the first conflict since WWII to be formally judged as genocidal in character, and many of the participants were charged with terrible war crimes. It was in Dayton, Ohio, in November of 1995 that the world community - led by the U.S. State Department - brought to the table the leaders of the three warring nations for weeks of conflict resolution. The Dayton Peace Accords is the name given to the written agreement that negotiated an end to the war.

This is not an exhaustive list nor does it represent all the diverse ways our community has come together to make peace. We hope you will make time to visit these spaces of peace-building and explore the significance of the sites on this trail. As you visit each site, we encourage you to take time and read through the history of each location and think of ways you can continue to support spaces of peace and justice building.

Ukrainian Marian Collection In 1981 Halyna (Helen) Nykolyshyn, a cataloger for the Marian Library, established the Ukrainian Marian Collection. Nykolyshyn, originally from Ukraine, was especially interested in preserving the religious and cultural heritage of Ukraine. She sponsored exhibits at the University of Dayton on Ukrainian religious art and culture and, through her vast networks throughout the United States and Canada, secured donations of Ukrainian Marian artwork and artifacts for the Marian Library collection. Acquired during the 1980's and early 1990's, the collection is representative of historic moments for Ukrainians during that period, including the millennium of Christianity in Ukraine in 1988 and Ukraine's declaration of independence from the Soviet Union in 1991.

5/1-6/30 Women Icon Makers of West Ukraine This exhibit on loan from collector John A. Kohan's Sacred Art Pilgrim collection with assistance from the Iconart Contemporary Sacred Art Gallery in Lviv, Ukraine, pays tribute to eight innovative women icon makers of the Lviv School who have achieved recognition in a genre traditionally dominated by men. Respectful of the theological and artistic canons of iconography, they experiment with different media, painting techniques and color palettes to create contemporary variations on time-honored themes.
5/1-11/10 Halyna Nykolyshyn's Ukrainian Marian Legacy This section of the exhibit demonstrates the many facets of the Marian Library's Ukrainian Marian Collection and the librarian, Halyna Nykolyshyn (Helen) who started the collection. It discusses the timely importance of the collection and displays newly acquired pieces that display the active Marian devotion in Ukraine today.

Hours: By appointment

Willis "Bing" Davis is an African American Artist and teacher, born in Greer, South Carolina, whose artwork portrays his feelings for life and appreciation for African history and culture. Davis has studied, lived, and taught in both Indiana and Ohio. He graduated from DePauw University in 1959, and from Miami University in 1967. He studied at the Dayton Art Institute, and Indiana State University from 1975 to 1976 "and was also a ceramic and graphic artist who taught a ceramics class at Central State University for 20 years." Though he was also busy teaching during that time, he would always find time to work on his own projects. "After he retired in 1988, Davis Created the Willis Bing Davis Art Studio & Ebonia Gallery in Dayton and has continued to work on international projects in Russia, Bermuda, China, and Ghana in his free time." He is currently the President of the board of directors of the National Conference of Artists. Davis makes art from found objects and often includes mixed media. He has also worked in photography, drawing, painting, ceramics, and sculpture but accounts clay as is his most expressive medium of art due to its direct physical influence from it. He feels that there's a disconnect when a tool separates him from the work such as a brush or a lens. Art to Davis "is a wonderful way to understand self and to understand others." In his works he would tend to have a strong influence in African and African American textiles. "There's a triangle motif that's common in his art that's borrowed from the patterns found in African Quilts and architecture found in Guana, Africa" "Among Davis' works many have been featured in public and private collections alike from the U.S.A. Europe and China to Ghana, Senegal and Nigeria with exhibits featured in the Museum of Harlem, the African Craft Museum, the Renwick gallery and many more." Gallery offers art for sale and rotating community exhibits highlighting local, regional, and national artists.

SHANGO Center for the study of African American Art and Culture An organization founded by Willis "Bing" Davis offering education and workshops to at-risk students and aspiring individuals in the Dayton area.

Let's Go Downtown!

DPO string quarter presents afternoon of chamber music at the Dayton Art Institute

Dayton Performing Arts Alliance (DPAA) presents an intimate afternoon of chamber music featuring the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra's Principal String Quartet at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 29, at the Dayton Art Institute's Mimi and Stuart Rose Auditorium. The concert features Anton Webern's "Langsamer Satz (1905) for String Quartet," Sergei Prokofiev's "String Quartet No. 2 in F Major, Op. 92" and Benjamin Britten's "String Quartet No. 2 in C Major, Op. 36."

Dayton Philharmonic's Principal String Quartet showcases the talents of acting concertmaster Aurelian Oprea; principal violin Kirstin Greenlaw; principal viola Sheridan Currie; and principal cello John Kurokawa.

"It is a great pleasure for the four of us to rehearse and learn this all-20th-century program," said Oprea. "We don't usually have a chance to play chamber music during the season. So, rehearsing in such an intimate setting is very refreshing, especially after a few weeks spent in the pit of the Schuster Center playing large-scale works like 'Das Rheingold' and 'Peter Pan.'"

The afternoon begins with Anton Webern's "Langsamer Satz (1905) for String Quartet." Inspired by a hike in the mountains outside of Vienna, Webern intended to compose a complete string quartet but set the piece aside after completing just one movement, the slow movement. Called a "little masterpiece" by some, "Langsamer Satz" explores a gamut of emotions from yearning and dramatic to tranquility.

Prokofiev's "String Quartet No. 2" was written at the request of a Soviet government official when Prokofiev and other Soviet artists were evacuated to Nalchik, 900 miles south of Moscow, to avoid the Nazi invasion in 1941. Written in three movements, Prokofiev chose Karabardino-Balkar folk themes evidenced by the quartet's imitation of Asian plucked and percussion instruments. "String Quartet No. 2 in F Major, Op. 92" premiered in Moscow in 1942 and was called "an extremely turbulent success."

Benjamin Britten composed his "String Quartet No. 2 in C Major" to commemorate the 250th anniversary of English composer Henry Purcell's death; it premiered on Nov. 21, 1945.

Considered one of the most important string quartets of the 20th century, Britten's three-movement quartet nods to Purcell in the finale movement by using a specific kind of variation known as a chaconne which Purcell referred to as "chacony." A chacony consists of a theme and 21 variations divided into four sections by solo cadenzas by the violin, viola, and cello.

Tickets are on sale now at www.daytonperformingarts.org, by calling (937) 228-3630, or at the door before the concert. Adult tickets are $25; student tickets are $10.

Dayton's Flight Line Trail project receives funding

A project that would connect downtown Dayton to hundreds of miles of area bike trails has secured an additional $1.5 million in funding.

The Flight Line Trail project will transform a 6.5-mile former rail corridor into a multi-purpose bike trail. U.S. Rep. Mike Turner helped secure the funding for the project. "By connecting the bike path with the rest of the system, it will attract activity, energy, and excitement," Turner said.

The City of Dayton will begin design and construction work later this year after concluding acquisition negotiations with Norfolk Southern. A further timeline for the project has not been announced.

DML offers free tickets to Beethoven's 'Second Symphony' at Schuster Arts Center

Dayton Metro Library and the Dayton Performing Arts Alliance (DPAA) are offering free tickets to two May performances of Beethoven's "Second Symphony" at the Schuster Performing Arts Center. Due to limited ticket availability, advanced registration is required.

Beethoven's "Second Symphony" will be performed from 7:30-9 p.m. on Friday, May 19, and Saturday, May 20, at the Schuster Center.

Cellist star Sterling Elliott, a winner in the 2019 National Sphinx Competition, will perform Saint-Saëns' "Cello Concerto." Featured artists for the performances include conductor Neal Gittleman, and the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus, among others.

Fifty free tickets will be offered for each performance, with a maximum of six seats per party. Seat locations will vary, and tickets can be picked up at the box office prior to a performance. While DPAA will try to seat groups together when possible, it cannot be guaranteed. Tickets have no cash value and cannot be exchanged for other seats or performances.

The Schuster Center is located at 1 West Second St. in Dayton.

For a description of the performance, and for tickets, visit www.DaytonMetroLibrary.org and search for program title. Additional questions may also be directed to the library's Ask Me Line at (937) 463-2665.

Contact the Ask Me Line to request accommodations for sign language interpretation, audio amplification, and/or language translation. Additional accommodations may be available upon request. Advance notice is necessary to arrange for some accessibility needs.

Jacks finish Fenwick in OT

The Jacks defeated Fenwick 8-7 in overtime at home. With 3:20 remaining in the 4-minute overtime period, senior Nate Clark shot a screamer into the lower right corner for the winning goal. Clark then slid to the far corner of the field to celebrate with teammates. At the half, Jacks were ahead 4-0. Fenwick fought back and took a 7-6 lead with 1:32 remaining. With 0:32 remaining in the game, Max Parker fired a shot into the goal ending regulation play with a 7-7 tie, leading to OT. Parker led with 3 goals, followed by Clark with 2, and one each by Logan Maynor, PJ Bremner, and Ben Hick. Goalie Carter Stack tallied 11 saves. The Jacks won 9 of 15 faceoffs.

Jacks fall to Franklin

In unorthodox style, junior goalkeeper Carter Stack used his leg to block a shot on goal with four minutes remaining in the third period, with the Jacks ahead 8-5. The lax Jacks were up 6-4 at the half, and 9-5 at the end of the third, but lost 13-10 to Franklin at Lane Stadium. Franklin rallied with an 8-1 scoring run in the fourth quarter to defeat Oakwood. Senior Max Parker tallied four goals, followed by two goals each by senior Nate Clark, junior PJ Bremner and sophomore Ben Hick. Stack tallied 17 saves.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You could reach your goals by displaying unwavering devotion to your cause. Validate yourself; you might not receive the personal glory you hope for if you are one small part of a large team.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Purpose can satisfy more than pleasure. Plant a tree or find other ways to support Mother Earth. Connect with some idealistic friends or immerse yourself in passionate environmental or humanitarian efforts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It's easier to get along with people if you go along with their ideas, but that may not be the best strategy long term. A slip of the tongue or brief misunderstanding could be forgiven with a quick apology. Give someone the benefit of the doubt.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): When you handle hot stuff, it can be a good idea to use hot pads. Your enthusiasm could irritate someone who thinks you are being pushy. Do not hesitate to spend a few extra dollars if you want to obtain the best quality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Hang a flag or root for the home team. You can share in the rewards when there is a team effort. You could make social headway by agreeing to a compromise, by making an apology, or by politely ignoring a difference of opinion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not be shy about sharing your thoughts but at the same time be receptive to the opinions of others. Be tolerant when someone makes impulsive decisions so you can keep the lines of communication wide open.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You could have the imagination to turn an idea into something profitable. Join forces with other people to achieve your personal ambitions. Look for the perfect opening to ask for favors or request preferential treatment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): There may be an opportunity to find common ground and form relationships with people who share your interests and ideals. If a close relationship has undergone a rift, today might be a suitable time to knit things back in place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): This could be the best day to try to kiss and make up. Family spats can quickly be forgotten if you exercise some diplomacy. Address the needs of other people before your own and everything will be fine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Make field goals in your business and financial affairs or score points by profitably using astute observations. You can power through problems but should be cautious about new and unproven investments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Count on a generous partner who can make your life brighter. Because you might be busy with your obligations, you may develop a blind spot. Double check your receipts and credit card statements.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You can be comfortable and demonstrate good taste without spending too much cash. Avoid impulse purchases just to show off or to be in lockstep with current trends. Purchase the best your money can buy.

Lax Jacks finish long week with overtime victory

Nate Clark's goal in overtime lifted the Oakwood High School boys lacrosse team to an 8-7 victory over the Bishop Fenwick Falcons on Friday at Lane Stadium.

It was the second goal of the game for Clark, a senior defensive captain. The win put the Lumberjacks back on the winning track after suffering back-to-back narrow losses in their previous two games. It also halted a red-hot Falcons team that had not lost in a month and was riding a six-game winning streak. Oakwood, on the other hand, had experienced a challenging five-game stretch over seven days.

Clark's first goal of the game got the scoring started, putting the Jacks up 1-0. However, Fenwick scored the next two goals and led 2-1 after the first quarter.

Senior attack Max Parker scored on the Jacks' opening possession of the second quarter to tie the game at 2-2, but Fenwick managed to get a shot past Oakwood goalie Carter Stack to retake the lead, 3-2, two minutes later. Lumberjack goals by sophomore Ben Hick, Parker and senior Logan Maynor gave Oakwood a 5-3 lead midway through the quarter. But the Falcons added another goal to make the score 5-4 Oakwood at the end of the first half.

Both teams came out hitting hard in the second half, and the Lumberjacks were assessed a three-minute penalty for unnecessary roughness at the 10:15 mark of the quarter. The Falcons scored 45 seconds later to tie the game at 5-5. On Fenwick's next possession, Oakwood's Tripp Martindale works to get around a Chaminade Julienne defender last week at Lane Stadium. The Eagles rallied from three goals down to defeat the Lumberjacks 10-9.

Oakwood was penalized for two separate infractions, putting the Jacks at a three-man disadvantage. Oakwood's three lone defenseman - seniors Jack Hick and Andrew LaFountain and junior Dominic Baker - were able to stop the six Falcon attackers from scoring and keep the game tied at 5-5.

Both teams continued the physical play throughout the quarter, yet neither team could manage to put a ball in the net until Oakwood's P.J. Bremner scored with 3:47 left in the fourth, giving the Jacks a 6-5 lead. Fenwick, however, scored on their next two possessions to go back in front 7-6 with just 1:32 to go in regulation.

Following senior Quinn Schreck's faceoff win, Oakwood Head Coach Aaron Hemler called timeout to set up a final play. The rain-soaked crowd was not disappointed as Parker took the ball at inbounds and drove to the net for the tying goal with 32 seconds left in the quarter, setting up Clark's heroics in overtime.

In addition to his three goals, Parker lead the team in ground balls collected with six, followed by Will Morris with four. Ben Hick and Steven Hamblin each collected two, while Schreck, Maynor, Tripp Martindale and Hans Tureck each had one. Stack saved 11 of 18 shots for the win.

Earlier in the week, the Lumberjacks suffered losses to Chaminade Julienne, 10-9, and Franklin, 13-10.

Ben Hick, Petr Markov, Parker and

Clark each had two goals against CJ, and while Maynor tallied one.

Leading the Jacks in ground balls collected was Clark with six, while Martindale had three. Ben Hick, Jack Hick, Peter Skardon, Carson Dinkler, Maynor, Bremner, and Parker each collected two, while Baker and Morris each had one. Stack saved 15 of 25 shots in the loss.

Safe!

Sophomore Carmen Dinkler scored the Jills' first run against Carroll by beating a tag at home in a successful double-steal when sophomore Kayla Spahr took off to second base. That drew the attention of the catcher to throw to second, but Spahr slid safely into second in a cloud of dust, delaying the throw to home. The scoring continued in a two-out, four-run rally in the third inning but at the end of the bottom of the third, the Jills trailed 4-5. Oakwood lost 17-4 to Carroll at home.
