THE PHI GAMMA DELTA

Vol. 141 No. 2 Spring 2020

Idaho brothers gather in front of their 94-year-old chapter house during their 100th Pig Dinner weekend.

President's Message

Brothers,
First things first. I hope and pray your family, friends and chapter brothers are healthy and well.

What a difference a month or two makes.

As I write this, we all find ourselves between stay-at-home orders and phase one re-openings across the country as we still try to outflank the COVID-19 virus. We are all adjusting on the fly to this new reality, albeit one we hope is short-lived, but making alternate plans just in case.

Phi Gamma Delta is no different, with all our undergraduate members finishing their school year at home and likely wondering how this will affect them in the fall. Universities are in various stages of planning for the fall term, and it seems more than likely that in-person classes will be held at most of the major universities. Our headquarters staff is working remotely from home and is busy doing contingency planning depending on the length of this virus. House corporations are developing contingency plans for our chapter houses in the event this virus has negative consequences for group living in the fall.

Like other organizations, the Fraternity has cancelled all the events planned for the next two months. This summer, two sessions of the Leadership Institute have been canceled, and The Summit has been adapted into a virtual event.

God willing, the 172nd Ekklesia will be held August 6-9 in Phoenix, but plans are also being prepared if we need to scale down, delay or conduct our convention remotely. While there has not been an Ekklesia cancelled during my lifetime, it is not without precedent, having occurred twice during World War II. In any event, we will first consider the safety of our brothers and second how to conduct elections, consider law changes and approve a budget.

Thankfully, the Fraternity is in strong shape financially to weather the storm, due in large measures to the conservative nature of our organization and the growth initiative that was undertaken by our leadership over a decade ago.

And, of course, an organization that has survived 172 years will find a way to persist through the dedication of its brothers, as it always has. I mentioned in an online Q&A, during the Fraternity's recent birthday, that COVID-19 ultimately cannot infect the ideals and principles upon which we are founded. Our survival is not in question. Yes, we are concerned with the financial operations of our house corporations and headquarters, but the Fraternity itself is immune from this virus. We will work the problem just as others are doing and come out on the other side stronger for it.

Now a word on our Fiji Family, and in particular our spouses, for whom Phi Gamma Delta means almost as much as it means to us.

In early March, my wife, Suzanne, and I flew to Stillwater, Oklahoma, to attend the Sigma Omicron Pig Dinner. OSU's Pig Dinner is attended by spouses as well as girlfriends. While there, we met Karen Hicks, whose husband, Craig (Oklahoma State 1972), had passed away several years ago. Karen is part of our extended Fiji Family and still attends every Pig Dinner.

She is part of that large universe of fraternity spouses, my Suzanne included, who support us in our service to the Fraternity, love our brothers as much as we do and rejoice in our shared friendships. In honor of Karen and of Lynn Shoumlin, widow of Tom (Ohio 1973), I extend heartfelt thanks to all Fiji Sweethearts for all they have done for our association. They enrich Phi Gamma Delta every day.

In my last column as President, I want to express my profound thanks to the headquarters staff with whom I have had the opportunity to work closely these past six years. Their professionalism and passion for the Fraternity continue to set a high bar against which others in the fraternity world measure themselves.

Phi Gamma Delta continues to be blessed with a deep bench when it comes to our Appointed General Officers, in particular our General Counsels past and present, who work tirelessly on the legal affairs of the Fraternity. Thank you all for your exemplary service.

I have also been fortunate these past six years to have served alongside many outstanding brothers on the Archonate, each of whom brought different skill sets, experiences and perspectives to the board. Most importantly, they brought a desire to do only what is in the best interests of Phi Gamma Delta. They have all served "selflessly and joyful in the privilege."

Lastly, I am grateful every day to my dad, Ken

Robertson (Nebraska 1951), who introduced me to Phi Gamma Delta back in the summer of 1978. Thank you, Dad.

Mighty Proud to be a Fiji.

Fraternally,

Clark

Headquarters Staff Updates

In April, Todd Rotgers (Minnesota 2011) was named Assistant Executive Director. Todd has served on the Fraternity staff since 2013, first as Director of Education and then as Senior Director of Undergraduate Services. In his new role, Todd will continue to oversee chapter conduct, plan the Fiji Academy and Ekklesia, and provide leadership to the chapter services team. His new responsibilities include leading the Fraternity's hazing prevention efforts, overseeing advisor support and taking a larger role in interfraternal matters and initiatives.

Also in April, Helen Lahrman joined the Fraternity staff as the Senior Director of Chapter Support. In this position, she will lead all efforts related to the support, resources and services provided to our undergraduate chapters and colonies. Previously, she worked as a Vice President of Campus Operations for the North-American Interfraternity Conference (NIC) and as Director of Greek Life at Northeastern University. Helen earned her bachelor's at Franklin College, where she joined Pi Beta Phi Fraternity for Women, and her master's in educational leadership at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs.

In May, Joe Roth (Akron 2019) assumed the role of Director of Chapter Development, where he will work most closely with our colonies and young chapters. He previously worked as a Field Secretary for one year, traveling the southeast region. As an undergraduate Joe served his chapter in many roles, including President and Historian, and was Senate Chair of the Student Government. He earned a B.S. in labor economics with a minor in international politics.

Three staff members recently departed the Fraternity staff. Nick Hawley (Kettering 2017) departed in November 2019 after serving as Director of Growth for one-and-a-half years and as Field Secretary for one year. Thomas Lovejoy (Oregon State 2014) departed in January after just over a year as the Director of Graduate Involvement. Alex Cruz (Northern Arizona 2017) departed in May after serving on the staff for three years, first as a Field Secretary and then as Director of Chapter Development.

Whyte Appointed Educational Director

In April, the Archons named the Fraternity's newest Appointed General Officer, Amelious N. Whyte, Jr. (Minnesota Faculty), as Educational Director. Amelious was introduced to Phi Gamma Delta and initiated as a graduate in 1999 while serving as the Mu Sigma Chapter's Scholarship Advisor, a role he continued to hold until appointed as Educational Director. He also served as Purple Legionnaire at Mu Sigma from 2006-2008, won the Coulter Cup in 2018 and served as a facilitator for the Fraternity's Leadership Institute. Professionally, Amelious is the Director of Public Engagement for the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota and has held numerous student affairs-related roles since 1993.

Amelious was appointed following the retirement of Bill Bracewell (Georgia Faculty) as Educational Director in November. Bill served as Educational Director from 1982-1988 and 2001-2019. He served as Archon Councilor from 1988-1992, in addition to being a former Section Chief, Purple Legionnaire and BCA member. He won the Distinguished Fiji Service Award in 1993. ♦

Adapting to the COVID-19 Pandemic

Chapters & Brothers Adapting to the Pandemic:

Beta Nu at Appalachian State held their first online brotherhood event in March. The Chapter is planning more online events in the future, and they will invite graduate brothers to join as well.

Pi Iota at WPI modified their original Humvee Push philanthropy into a virtual Photoshop competition. The event raised over $2,000 for the USO.

The COVID-19 pandemic has significantly altered how Phi Gamma Delta operates, as it has for each of our brothers. Each of our undergraduate chapters was disrupted this spring as colleges and universities cancelled in-person classes. In many cases, students moved away from campus, with residence halls and chapter houses closing for the remainder of the spring semester. Traditional spring activities, including Pig Dinners and campus-based philanthropies, were postponed or cancelled. Our undergraduate and graduate chapters were suddenly forced to find ways to connect and carry on their activities in other ways.

The International Headquarters was also forced to alter its operations. By mid-March, all travel was halted, and staff members began working from home. However, the staff was able to respond quickly and shift how support is provided to our brothers, with a significant focus on strategies for keeping brothers connected. As an example, while Field Secretaries could not visit in person, they began weekly communication with chapter officers and key volunteers, and they continued their planned visits via phone and video conference. The Fraternity quickly began offering additional resources, pulling from our interfraternal and campus partners to help our chapters adjust. Every chapter was given access to a Zoom license to maintain its meetings, educational offerings and vital chapter functions.

Planned summer events were also significantly altered. The Leadership Institute, an immersive program for up and coming leaders, was cancelled for 2020. The Summit, a workshop for recruitment chairmen and new member educators, was shifted to a summer-long online series. It has not yet been decided whether the 172nd Ekklesia, planned for August, will continue or be altered.

While the pandemic has altered how the Fraternity operates, it has not disrupted the Phi Gamma Delta spirit. Our brothers have responded to our current challenge with creativity and persistence. While campuses may have closed, our chapters did not cease their operations. They adapted. They quickly changed their plans to host online philanthropies, hold Zoom Pig Dinners, and continue to recruit and meet (albeit virtually) to stay connected with one another.

We do not know what to expect in the months ahead, but we know that our fraternity can and will survive the COVID-19 pandemic and thrive as it subsides. Flexibility and adaptation will be key, particularly with traditional chapter operations. Phi Gamma Delta's staff and volunteers are preparing plans under several different scenarios to help our chapters persevere during the unknowns of the coming year and flourish under our new normal, whatever that may be.

Brothers should be comforted that many years of astute leadership and fiscal responsibility have positioned the International Fraternity to be able to continue its important work in supporting our chapters and volunteers. While campus closures and cascading impacts will present a financial strain, and the Fraternity will need to make adjustments, our financial position, along with the continued generosity of our graduate brothers, will ease the burden on the Fraternity and our undergraduate brothers.

Having just celebrated our 172nd anniversary, we should also be reminded of the resilience Phi Gamma Delta has proven over time. We have endured and prospered through wars, pandemics, recessions and depressions by remaining committed to our values, adapting, and showing persistence to advance our brotherhood.

During World War I, 50% of our undergraduate membership enlisted, and our average chapter size dropped from 20 to just 13. Newly acquired chapter houses were suddenly threatened. It was during this time that the Archons, under the leadership of Orion Cheney (New York 1897), created a "Purple Legion" of graduate brothers "to be charged with the general welfare of [their] chapter" and organized a "National Rushing Week," asking graduate brothers to solicit names of prospective members. These were both precursors to the graduate involvement Phi Gamma Delta enjoys today. This crisis will no doubt bring about changes to Phi Gamma Delta, but those changes will make us stronger moving forward.

The foundation of our fraternity is our belief that Friendship is the Sweetest Influence. Whether we face adversity or prosperity, this belief will sustain us for years to come. ♦

Western Kentucky brothers Clay Simpson (2012) (left) and Tyler Jury (2012) (right) are making COVID-19 face shields in their Louisville-based leather goods business, Clayton & Crume. They made a total of 585,000 face shields for the state of Kentucky.

Rho Alpha at Virginia Tech adapted their Pig Dinner, along with traditions such as kissing the Pig, to host brothers and guests virtually.

Leading the Fight Against Hazing

Although most chapters do not haze, the practice creeps into our chapters far too often. Unfortunately, in just over two years' time, the Fraternity has had to close 11 chapters for hazing, which is why we call it the number one killer of fraternity chapters.

There is zero tolerance for hazing in Phi Gamma Delta, on the campuses where we operate, and in society. It is contrary to our values, and it has no place in our fraternity.

While hazing itself is an action, it is rooted in an attitude – an attitude that causes some people to do things to pledges in the fraternity setting that they would never do to their friends or mere acquaintances in other settings. The hazing attitude says, “These guys want to be Fijis so bad that they will do anything I tell them to do.” For some people with that attitude, “anything” might be seemingly innocuous requirements, but for others, “anything” could include dangerous behaviors involving alcohol, physical pain or mental stress.

Here is the reality: No one knows what the “anything” limit is for any individual. But the hazing attitude – “these guys want to be Fijis so bad” – puts pledges' well-being and the chapter's future in the hands of any individual brother. Experience has shown that is too great a risk to bear.

Therefore, we invite all those with an interest in the present and future of Phi Gamma Delta, and their own chapter, to Join the Fight to eliminate and prevent hazing.

The Fraternity is committed to the elimination and prevention of hazing. Just over a year ago, the Archons adopted a new comprehensive Hazing Prevention Plan. Paramount in this plan is a recognition that no single action or policy will solve this problem. Instead, we aim for the cumulative impact of efforts around several key areas.

Rethink the Joining Process

Phi Gamma Delta is rethinking how a man “becomes a Fiji.” This begins with the recruitment process, shifting our time of acclimation and evaluation so that the new member period is not an excuse to “weed out” those whom we did not get to know initially. The Fraternity will soon introduce a new New Member Education program that honors our foremost value of Friendship – focusing first on building the foundation of fraternity through productive and meaningful bonding experiences.

Later this year the Fraternity will also introduce the framework for a continuing member development program. Too often a brother's formal development as a Fiji ends at initiation. Our goal is to extend learning about the Fraternity and the Ritual throughout a brother's undergraduate career and relieve the pressure to try to teach a man everything about being a Fiji before he is initiated.

Increased Training & Education

We will provide increased training and educational opportunities to our New Member Educators and chapter officers to explain the Fraternity's expectations regarding education and treatment of new members. Beginning last year, all Chapter Presidents and New Member Educators are required to complete online courses and signed agreements prior to the start of their New Member Education Program. Last summer, we launched The Summit, an annual conference, to provide training, strategies and tactics for both new member education and recruitment. Additional training and educational resources are also provided for our chapter advisors.

And our continued focus on Building Courageous Leaders both challenges and prepares brothers, regardless of title or position, to respond with courage at that testing point when someone promotes or engages in hazing.

Reinforce Hazing's Risks & Consequences

We will continue our deliberate and direct communication to all undergraduate brothers to help them understand the risks and consequences of hazing. When a chapter is closed for hazing, we inform the undergraduates of all chapters so they can understand that there are real and painful consequences for chapters that haze.

We also remind brothers of the consequences that individuals may face, including criminal prosecution, civil liability, and expulsion from the Fraternity and/or their school. The Fraternity fully supports interfraternal efforts to strengthen state laws against hazing as well as efforts to establish federal anti-hazing legislation.

Rally All Constituents

We look to all stakeholders – including parents and especially graduate brothers – to stand with us and Join the Fight against the number one killer of fraternity chapters. Hazing and hazers perceive silence as agreement and even permission.

You may have seen that the Fraternity launched its Join the Fight campaign last fall. The campaign continues, with the goal of giving everyone involved with our undergraduates meaningful ways to take a stand against hazing.

If you have not already, we encourage you to take the pledge to Join the Fight against hazing at www.phigam.org/FightHazingPledge.

One of the strongest preventatives we can have is for brothers, of all ages and in undeniable numbers, to state clearly that they do not support hazing and are committed to its elimination. ♦

"Hazing in all forms is destructive to our fraternity and our young men. If Phi Gamma Delta is going to continue to thrive and be a leader among fraternities, we need to eliminate this behavior from our experience." - Archon President Clark Robertson (Nebraska 1982)

"It is ruining the reputation and morals of fraternities. It is an issue I take personally and want to eradicate immediately. Every pledge should have a fun and personal experience with their new brothers, not a forceful attack to one's character." - Anonymous Undergraduate

"Hazing is anti-brotherhood." - Jonathan Espy (Drake 1995)

"I want to get rid of the stereotype that fraternities cause harm to students." - Anonymous Undergraduate

"Joining a fraternity is more than just hazing. It's about belonging." - Roger Hansbarger (California PA 2021)

"I want to end the negative stigmas of Greek life and show the new generation how amazing it is to join a brotherhood." - Anonymous Undergraduate

"Hazing has no place in our brotherhood. It divides rather than unites. It is dangerous and reflects poorly on all of us, especially in the public eye. We want to create good brothers/friends, not obedient servants." - Anonymous Graduate

"Hazing doesn't build brotherhood; it is the very thing that destroys it." - Ryan Miller (Grand Valley State 2023)

"We are better than that." - Anonymous Undergraduate

On Campus

Please keep in mind that news continues to come in, even when an issue has gone to press. While it may seem dated to include events from the previous semester or school year, the goal is to give credit to all our brothers, chapters and colonies.

Getting Personal with That Other Epidemic

By Alex Wylie (Arizona State 1996)

Our lives are so busy—work, kids, the rest. That’s what I told myself as I grabbed my bag and Starbucks and started toward the jetway. I knew the “too busy” line was a trite excuse. But I indulged in the bit of self-deception one early morning last August. After all, I was finally making a long overdue trip to Long Beach, California, to see Mike Blazeovich (Arizona State 1996), my pledge brother and best friend from our alma mater, Arizona State University. We remained close after college, taking several vacations together and appearing in each other’s weddings. Lately, I kept in touch with Mike by text message, his wife Hannah’s Instagram account (Mike wouldn’t touch the social media stuff), and the occasional phone call. However, I realized that morning it had been far too long—almost two years since our last visit, when Mike brought his family to Portland for Halloween. As I handed my boarding pass to the gate agent, I winced a little in guilt at the calculation.

Mike went through a lot in the last ten years, but in August of 2019, all was well. Mike was hands-down the smartest brother in our chapter. He graduated in 1997 and started strong. His brains and hard work led to a management-level job as a computer science engineer. But in the mid-2000s, Mike’s social drinking (for which he was legendary in college) devolved into severe alcoholism. Mike lost his job, got divorced and went bankrupt. He was in bad shape. But we saved him. Through a series of gut-wrenching and extraordinary efforts, Mike’s family and a few chapter brothers convinced him to enter treatment. We supported Mike’s recovery in every possible way during the months and years that followed. It worked. He never drank again. Mike pulled himself together and started a new business in the Los Angeles area that grew into a minor multi-state empire. He became a licensed pilot (because why not) and remarried. Mike and Hannah now had two beautiful young daughters and lived in a great house close to the ocean in Long Beach. I was thrilled for Mike when, in an early 2019 text message, he told me he received an eight-figure offer to buy his business—that he turned down. He didn't want to be bored. We were so proud of Mike.

So it will always be with an overwhelming sense of disbelief that I think of Mike's death. And Hannah's. Brian Badillo (1999), another chapter brother who helped Mike overcome alcohol addiction, called me in the car Sunday morning, November 3, 2019. Brian's tone was unusually soft. "Alex, you better pull over." Mike and Hannah—both together—were dead of an apparent drug overdose. It seemed that their daughters, just five and two years old, were orphans. We were stunned.

Of course, I knew something about the opioid epidemic making national news. But I didn't realize how deeply the tentacles of the crisis had penetrated American society. If you had asked me how Mike, an otherwise healthy 45-year-old was most likely to die, I would have guessed a car accident. But it turns out the crisis is so severe that young and middle-aged Americans are now more likely to die of an opioid-related drug overdose than in a car accident.¹ More than 70,000 Americans died from a drug overdose in 2017, with 28,466 of those deaths featuring a synthetic narcotic like Fentanyl.² By contrast, in 1999, the total number of drug overdose deaths in the U.S. was less than 17,000.

How could this happen to Mike and Hannah—to us? The question continues to haunt Mike and Hannah's friends and family. The couple did not appear to fit any of what I understood to be risk factors—which is probably a polite way to say stereotypes. One stereotype is that the opioid epidemic is a mostly rural problem. And according to the numbers, it was. But between 2014 and 2017, the opioid epidemic expanded and morphed. Rural counties now have the lowest rate of overdose deaths, while large fringe metro areas have the highest.³ The very week before Mike and Hannah's deaths, the Los Angeles Times reported that Fentanyl, once rare on the west coast, now appears in a variety of illicit drugs.⁴ "[It] is being pressed into counterfeit pills that look like exact replicas of prescription narcotic and anti-anxiety medications." The LA Times article's author quoted a University of California San Francisco illicit drug use expert, who said, "[we] are in the killing fields now."

I was just there! I stayed with Mike and his family only a few months before his death. We ate together. We took walks in the evening around their Long Beach neighborhood. I played and colored with his adorable daughters. I saw that Mike and Hannah's lives were very busy—chaotic even. But I did not detect any signs of substance abuse during my visit in August. Also, several Alpha Sigma Chapter brothers made a trip with Mike to East Lansing, Michigan, for the ASU v. MSU football game on September 14. None of us could have imagined Mike and Hannah as "junkies" in the stereotypical sense. That said, during my visit, Mike did talk about his back problems. I noticed how he would sit stiffly and sometimes grunt a little when he stood up. And I knew from my work as an injury lawyer that Mike's complaints of numbness and tingling in his legs meant that he might need back surgery. But hey—we're in our 40's—of course we have back pain. I did not know (or think to ask) how Mike was treating his back pain, and I did not understand that anyone who takes prescription opioids is at risk for addiction.⁵ ▶

According to the Mayo Clinic, risk factors for opioid misuse include stressful life circumstances, a personal history of substance abuse, and prior drug or alcohol rehabilitation.

According to the Mayo Clinic, risk factors for opioid misuse include stressful life circumstances, a personal history of substance abuse, and prior drug or alcohol rehabilitation.⁶

It has been about six months now, and I still don't know exactly what happened to my friend and his wife. I may never know. I want to believe that Mike and Hannah would not have knowingly taken "street drugs," and certainly not Fentanyl, which is 50 to 100 times more potent than morphine.⁷ But would they have taken pills from a friend or acquaintance—pills that resembled the ones in a prescription bottle—either to ease physical pain or for a weekend-night break from the stress and chaos? That's one more thing I don't know.

Despite the uncertainty clouding Mike's tragedy, I do understand that knowledge is vitally important to our Fraternity. We say that knowledge never dies, but knowledge received too late sure feels to me like regret. So hopefully, timely knowledge can become wisdom, even courageous action. It is in this spirit that Mike's sisters, Bethany and Anna, and I want you to know about Mike, and we want you to know more about the opioid epidemic and the risk factors that can lead to disaster.

You should also know that Anna and her husband (along with their two young boys) have welcomed Mike and Hannah's daughters into their home, and Anna is now their legal guardian. The girls are safe, loved and with family.

Two weeks after Mike's death, I took another flight to Long Beach, this time for Mike and Hannah's memorial gathering. About 100 people assembled on the beach in front of a condo where the couple lived after they met. Friends and family gave eulogies, while Mike's daughters and their cousins played nearby in the sand. As loved ones talked about Mike and Hannah, I had to avoid looking at the folding tables with flowers and lots of happy pictures of Mike and Hannah with their kids. After the service, a group of chapter brothers helped clean up. Mike's closest friend, Jeff Leitch (1995), went to pick up a polished wooden box from one of the folding tables. One of the brothers asked Jeff, "What's that?" "That's Mike." The realization hit us like a collective gut punch. There is our friend, in a box. We gathered around Jeff and put our hands on the box. Another brother, Mike Nuzzo (1996), said a prayer.

Mike Blazeovich was the brightest star in our era of the Alpha Sigma Chapter and an irreplaceable friend to so many. With practically no warning, the opioid epidemic stole our friend, and it stole both parents from his daughters. The whole thing is such a senseless, unfathomable tragedy.

I hate that I did not know enough about the opioid epidemic or my friend's struggles to help save him this time. If you or someone you care about may be struggling with opioids, or dependence on other substances, please use your current knowledge and gain more. Ask uncomfortable questions. Think of the things that seem unthinkable. Act now and seek help. I hope you can avoid personal experience with the opioid epidemic. ♦

2020 Fiji Academy

Leaders Challenged to Run Their Own Race

The 2020 Fiji Academy was held January 3-5, 2020, bringing undergraduate and graduate leaders back to the historic St. Louis Union Station Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri. This annual leadership training prepared our brothers to “Lead with Courage” to make a positive impact on their campus and community.

① By the Numbers

2020 had a strong showing, with 645 brothers and guests in attendance. This included:

- Undergraduates: 504 from 146 chapters and colonies
- Chapters/Colonies With 3+ Delegates: 47 (Kansas State sent 11 brothers; Auburn and Bucknell both sent 7 brothers!)
- Graduates: 111 (Including 53 Purple Legionnaires and 26 Section Chiefs)

② Pursuing Excellence

The 2020 Fiji Academy kicked off with the Pursuing Excellence sessions, providing early arrivals with personal and professional development opportunities outside of their core officer and advisor responsibilities. On Friday afternoon, more than 450 brothers attended these sessions on topics such as career development, leadership development, judicial board training, diversity & inclusion, mental health, crisis communication, Fraternity history, and living our values. Concurrent with these sessions, new Purple Legionnaires gathered to learn about their new role from Section Chiefs and experienced Purple Legionnaires.

③ Opening Banquet

The event’s first large group opportunity was the Opening Banquet on Friday evening. Longtime Academy emcee Towner Blackstock (Davidson 1994) opened the evening recounting Fiji Academy history. The main event was the President's Perspective keynote by Archon President Clark Robertson (Nebraska 1982). Clark highlighted how individuals have different reasons for taking on leadership positions; however, all leaders face testing points. He said that leaders who do not confront the challenge at the testing point can expect others to step in and take the initiative out of their hands. He ended with three key points for a new leader: (1) Run your own race, (2) take on the most pressing issues, and (3) where the eyes look, your body will follow.

4 Confronting the Idiot Brother

The Fiji Academy invited several guest speakers and presenters, including T.J. Sullivan, a well-known speaker on college campuses and an interfraternal friend. Leading off the program on Saturday morning, T.J. acknowledged that every chapter has at least one member whose behavior causes tensions and problems for everyone, and that confronting that brother can be very challenging. In an upbeat and humorous presentation, he challenged all brothers to step to the plate and find the courage to confront negative actions and attitudes from their fellow brothers. He offered practical strategies for increasing the effectiveness of constructive confrontations.

5 Foundation Luncheon

Saturday's luncheon, sponsored by the Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation, began with the second annual presentation of the Ed Gulewitz (Texas Christian 1989) Award for the Promotion of Organ Donation, which recognizes a chapter or colony that excels in encouraging people to register to be an organ, eye and tissue donor. This year's award winner was the Sigma Alpha Colony at Texas San Antonio.

▲ Dr. Gentry McCreary, Dyad Strategies

Our luncheon keynote speaker was Dr. Gentry McCreary, interfraternal friend and CEO of Dyad Strategies. Dr. McCreary shared highlights from Phi Gamma Delta’s second member experience survey, challenging brothers to consider brotherhood in the context of belonging and accountability.

6 Pig Dinner

The 2020 Fiji Academy concluded with a model Frank Norris Pig Dinner. Brothers from our newest chapter, Beta Kappa at the University of Colorado Boulder, had the honor of bringing in the pig. Longtime Ritualist and Former Archon President Bill Miller (Indiana 1962, Purdue Graduate Affiliate 1996) was the eldest brother in attendance, and Josh Hooper (William Woods 2023) was the youngest. These brothers shared the honor of kissing the pig. Section Chief Tom Adams (Emory 1970) concluded the Norris-related activities with a rendition of An Exile’s Toast.

The evening included with a recognition of the winners of chapter and individual awards for 2018. Chase Stiffler (Georgia 2019), one of the co-winners of the Wilkinson Award, given to Phi Gamma Delta’s most outstanding senior, gave an inspirational speech about his fraternity experience. Unfortunately, Kai Nichols (Colorado School of Mines 2019), the other co-winner, could not attend.

Our keynote speaker was Paul Hains (Texas Christian 1987), the William A. Martin III Distinguished Fiji Award recipient and Sam Houston State Purple Legionnaire. Paul talked about the leadership lessons learned through his more than 24-year career in the US Army, specifically talking about his experience in the Battle of 73 Easting in Iraq.

This year’s Academy concluded with the presentation of the inaugural Courageous Leaders Award (see next page).

We look forward to returning to the Union Station Hotel in 2021 as the Fraternity continues to Build Courageous Leaders.

The Courageous Leader Award

The First Two Recipients Are Named

In 2019, the Archons established the Courageous Leader Award to recognize individuals who, through acts of selflessness or courage, make an impact in the lives of others and demonstrate a commitment to their values at a testing point. The inaugural Courageous Leader Award winners were announced at the 2020 Fiji Academy's Pig Dinner by Archon President Clark Robertson.

The first recipient is Debbie Woodfin, the former housemother of the Beta Sigma Chapter at Ball State. She became housemother when Beta Sigma was colonized in 1999, getting involved as soon as her husband, Dan Woodfin (Auburn 1964), became Beta Sigma's first Purple Legionnaire. Brothers quickly saw that Debbie embodied the Fraternity's values. She was a friend to every brother, taught membership development classes, and was a sounding board for any problem brothers faced. Debbie was diagnosed with multiple myeloma, an aggressive blood/plasma cancer, over five years ago. While saddened by the news, she refused to give up. She recognized this personal testing point and vowed to fight. Her courageous leadership was a quiet strength. She wasn't overly vocal about her battle with cancer, but she led and inspired by example. Unfortunately, Debbie passed away on October 21, 2019, after a long-fought battle.

Our second recipient is Matthew Guzman (Arizona 2023). In October 2019, Matt was walking on the UA campus when he saw a fellow student who had fallen to the ground from a dorm walkway. Matt ran to the student and saw blood coming from their mouth. He immediately called 911, and the dispatcher gave instructions to provide lifesaving compressions, which Matt performed calmly and with precision until EMTs arrived. Unfortunately, the student later died in the hospital. But Matt had not hesitated to help. He saw someone in need and immediately came to their aid. Rather than wait for someone else to act, he did the right thing when it mattered.

Nominations for the Courageous Leader Award are accepted year-round, and recipients are announced each year in January. All brothers, new members and friends of Phi Gamma Delta are eligible to receive this award. For more information or to nominate someone, visit phigam.org/CourageousLeaderAward. ♦

A Lesson from Mu Iota at 100: Don't Forget Your Chapter

By Don Shelton (Idaho 1976)

About the Author:

Don Shelton serves as Graduate Relations Chair on Mu Iota's Board of Chapter Advisors. He retired as Executive Editor of The Seattle Times. Contact him at dshelton111@gmail.com.

More than 500 Fiji brothers and guests look up at me as I stand at the podium.

All I can do is smile. Then I pull out my phone and snap a picture. I need to preserve this moment.

Mu Iota's 100th Frank Norris Pig Dinner was the highlight of an amazing weekend that kicked off our chapter's year-long Centennial Celebration. But the most remarkable part wasn't more than a third of our living graduate brothers traveling to the University of Idaho from as far away as Ireland and Egypt to join us. Nor was it the heartfelt hugs or the tearful toasts we shared.

The most amazing thing was that the weekend happened at all. The odds were against us.

For me, the journey toward that unforgettable Centennial selfie with 500 others started 14 years ago with a single phone call from a long lost Phi Gamma Delta pledge brother. That spurred a trip back to Idaho for my 30th reunion a few months later. But I also saw hints of trouble, and my worst fears were confirmed a year later at a sparsely attended Pig Dinner. The half-empty house was in disrepair and the chapter in disarray.

Only then did I realize we had to do something - if it wasn't too late.

All of those thoughts flash through my mind as I prepare to speak at the end of our 100th Pig Dinner.

The resurrection of the Mu Iota Chapter is a story both cautionary and uplifting. We renovated our house, rescued our chapter, restored our connection with Phi Gamma Delta and rediscovered our Brotherhood. Yet I'm sharing our journey not simply out of pride, but so other Fijis and their chapters can avoid our mistakes and tap into the restorative power of hard work and brotherhood.

A Brother's Phone Call

The phone call in early 2006 came out of nowhere. Andre "Andy" Pedersen (1976) told me he had early-onset Alzheimer's and wanted to say goodbye to our pledge class of 1976. We quickly organized a 30th reunion in April, and 19 of us converged on Moscow, Idaho. I hadn't been back in 25 years. That weekend made me realize how much I missed my pledge brothers, Phi Gamma Delta and the University of Idaho.

A year later, I attended Mu Iota's Pig Dinner and was stunned when only about 45 joined me, including undergraduates. The kitchen had been shut down by the health department, and only about 35 lived in a house built for 70.

I pulled aside Purple Legionnaire Ken Nuhn (1975). "We're going to be fine, right?" I asked.

He paused before replying. "I'm not sure we're going to be around in a year."

Later, at a house corporation meeting, Ken underscored to graduates what might happen if we failed to save the Chapter. "There could be other Greek letters in front of our house next fall," he said.

A voice broke the silence. "Like hell!" roared Todd Elliott (1981). "No way are we going to let that happen!"

Phone calls were made, and graduates rallied around our troubled chapter. We developed a plan to solve two major issues - updating the chapter house and getting more graduate involvement.

Led by co-chairs Tom Nicholson (1959) and Jim Hawkins (1958), brothers contributed $1.8 million to renovate the chapter house. The first stage was managed by Jerry Schlatter (1959), the house corporation president, and later stages by his successor, Dan Dorman (1979).

Re-engaging graduates was my job. I organized fall reunions and revamped spring Pig Dinners. I took over our chapter's newsletter and wrote stories for newspapers and magazines about my experiences. I joined the Board of Chapter Advisers and house corporation. I organized a monthly lunch for Idaho Fijis in Seattle, while others did the same in Boise and Spokane.

The Road Back to Idaho

Graduates started making the long trip back to Moscow, an idyllic but isolated campus in northern Idaho. Pig Dinner attendance improved each year, and our 99th Pig Dinner in 2019 drew 162.

Something equally magical happened inside our chapter house. With more graduate guidance, our undergraduate numbers and quality improved. We now regularly rank near the top of all men's groups in grades, win intramurals, and blow every living group away in philanthropy.

As planning began for our 100th Pig Dinner, I wanted to punctuate our comeback with an epic weekend. Mitch Sonnen (1986), chairman of our BCA, planned a can't-miss event. Dan Harris (1981) organized a network of more than 60 class and decade leaders to relay information and rally brothers. A couple of weeks before the March 6-8 weekend, our goal of 500 seemed within reach.

I clear my throat and wonder how I can put all that into words.

In the audience for our 100th Pig Dinner is the University of Idaho's new president, Scott Green, a product of Idaho's Greek system, and six other U of I officials. Phi Gamma Delta's new Executive Director, Rob Caudill (Akron 2004), is there, too, along with Section Chiefs and former Archons, including Bruce Pitman (Purdue 1971), former Archon Councilor and Idaho's retired Dean of Students and Vice Provost of Student Affairs.

Rob and Bruce agree that graduate involvement was the key to saving our chapter. But they also point out that our work isn't done.

"If we've learned anything in recent years, it's that a fraternity chapter is a fragile thing," Rob said. "It takes a lot of nurturing, a lot of involvement and lot of endurance. For a chapter to reach that Centennial bar is definitely an accomplishment. It's a tribute to the atmosphere you've created at Mu Iota."

'Don't Forget About Your Chapter'

The atmosphere for our 100th Pig Dinner is electric. With 500 waiting for me to finish the group selfie and speak, I know what I need to say. I leave my notes under the podium and just tell my story, Mu Iota's story. It starts with a phone call from a pledge brother and ends with a challenge.

"Go back home and savor this weekend, but don't forget about your chapter," I say. "If we do that, the same thing will happen. Without graduate support, our chapter will struggle. Come back and get involved in any way you can. Our chapter needs your help."

A few minutes later, the pledge brother who first inspired me slowly makes his way to the stage to accept an award. He pushes a walker given to him that weekend by a pledge brother. Another pledge brother is at his elbow. Like our chapter, Andy Pedersen has made it back despite the odds.

Soon 16 of our brothers join us on stage, hugging and posing for photos.

More than a pledge class surrounds me. The power of our brotherhood molded us and has brought us back together 44 years after we left the house. That same brotherhood became the force that saved our chapter when it needed us most.

It's a lesson Mu Iota and I learned the hard way. As we begin a Centennial Celebration that almost didn't happen, I hope other brothers and other chapters avoid the same mistakes. ♦

R. Verne Wheelwright (1957) recently published another book, titled Small Business Foresight. It is written for business owners to help them understand and apply the tools and methods of long-term planning, including strategic planning, scenario development, and trend analysis.

Jeff Gill (1980), David Thoma (1981) and Jeff Conway (1981) are raising money for the ALS Association of Greater

Philadelphia (ALS AGP) and a specially built "all terrain" wheelchair. The fundraiser was created in honor of Brother Conway, who was diagnosed with Primary Lateral Sclerosis (PLS), a relative of ALS, several years ago.

This June, the three brothers will be joining a group of approximately 50 people for a group trip sponsored by the organization I'll Push You Disability Camino (www.illpushyou.com). During the trip, the participants will use the "all terrain" wheelchair to push Jeff along the Camino de Santiago in Spain. After the trip, the chair will be donated to the ALS AGP, so others may enjoy special experiences they otherwise could not. The chair is expensive, $5,400, and this trip comes at a time when Jeff Conway's medical expenses are rising. So they are hoping to raise enough money for the chair, to help defray some of Jeff's additional costs, and to support the ALS AGP. For more information, please visit: www.gofundme.com/f/will-you-give-us-a-push-and-help-others-too.

On March 6, 2LT Ben Seitz (2019), 2LT Conner Morschauer (Auburn 2019) and 2LT Andrew Bright (Mississippi State 2019) graduated from the US Army's Ranger School. Ranger School doubles as the premier leadership school for the Army and is one of the toughest courses offered to US military personnel. Only a small percentage of the Army has earned the privilege of wearing the Ranger Tab, and even more significant less than 50% of the soldiers that show up to Ranger School will graduate and earn their Tab. All three brothers agree that it was a combination of persistence and brotherhood which got them through the course. Ben is going to the 2nd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division based in Fort Bragg, North Carolina with Conner. ♦

2019 Honor Roll of Donors

Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation

Normally, in this letter, we look back at the last year. Since times are far from normal, we thought it equally important to address the immediate and near future.

Actions taken years ago to streamline our staff, find efficiencies in processes, broaden our donor base and increase our Perge! Society and White Star Legacy Society memberships have helped to mitigate the impact of the recent global virus outbreak and the ensuing economic downturn. While the outcomes affected everything, we do have strong fraternal leadership and financial reserves that allow us to operate into the fall 2020 semester. Your Foundation operates using these guiding principles: use your gifts to encourage excellence; be open and willing to try new approaches to solve problems; remain good stewards of your gifts; develop relationships to strengthen Phi Gamma Delta.

We communicate regularly with Rob Caudill, Executive Director of the Fraternity, and the Archons. We have offered to assist them in any ways that we can, including grants and programming support above and beyond our regular funding. There is enough uncertainty about what will happen on college campuses this fall that we are prepared to put the full weight of the Foundation behind undergraduate programming. As we move forward, your continuing support is critical to our ability to serve chapters and our brothers.

As you look through the Donor Yearbook, you will find Foundation updates and brief reports on our 2019 grants, programs funded and programs to raise funds for Phi Gamma Delta.

Thank you, and stay well.

The Phi Gamma Delta Foundation of Canada

What a difference a few months make. I hope you and your family are staying healthy. We know that these times are trying for everyone. I encourage you to reach out to brothers and make that connection.

While 2019 seems like a distant memory, I want to share what we accomplished because of your involvement.

Your generous financial support allowed us to grant 83% of unrestricted income to brothers and chapters in the form of scholarships, leadership training, mental health and alcohol abuse education. We continue to keep our administration, fundraising and operating cost low at 18% of income, which is a good percentage!

We continue to stay focused on areas that foster, challenge and grow our brothers. We awarded $63,900 in scholarships this year, our largest ever. We issued 20 - $500 Academic Achievement Awards (Triple A) to all newly initiated members who earned a 3.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale. We also awarded 50 scholarships of $1,000 each to deserving undergraduate and graduate brothers. All chapters received scholarships. These awards have helped to place an importance on academics in our chapters.

Estate gifts continued to be important to our ability to fund with the estate of William H. Gear (McGill 1956) again this year generously benefiting the Foundation. We are grateful to the brothers who have planned to benefit Phi Gamma Delta this way. We also want to thank the hundreds of brothers over the last few years who donated to the Foundation. Keep it up brothers as your chapter benefits from your support!

Thanks to you, our brothers, for helping to make 2019 the best year ever and helping us to do our job of supporting Phi Gamma Delta.

White Star Legacy Society

The White Star Legacy Society recognizes those who have chosen to leave a legacy for Phi Gamma Delta through their will or estate plans. These loyal Phi Gams and families have helped to shape the future of the Fraternity.

Top Three Ways to Join the White Star Legacy Society:

- #1 Give a charitable bequest (a percentage or dollar amount) in your will or living trust to the Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation.
- #2 Name Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation as a beneficiary of your assets such as your 401K or other retirement plans upon your passing.
- #3 Open a life insurance policy with the Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation as the policy owner and cover annual premiums with gifts to the Annual Fund.

We Thank These Loyal Brothers for Their Consideration & Generosity:

Both Foundations operate to support the educational endeavors of Phi Gamma Delta, its chapters and its members. Listed are the donors who gave either unrestricted annual fund gifts, restricted endowment gifts or chapter restricted gifts to the Foundations in the 2019 calendar year. Donors are listed in their lifetime giving societies. Perge! Society members donating more than $500 are listed at the end of each chapter section; the parentheses indicate the number of years the brother has given at a Perge! Society level. This listing is only Foundation donors.

All brothers who gave graduate dues are listed at www.phigam.org.

Healthy Environment & Leadership Opportunities

At the time of this writing, all institutions where we have chapters are either distance/on-line learning or closed until the fall. With our chapters vacant, the Fraternity staff is coaching/advising chapter officers how to handle communications and plans for the fall with brothers scattered.

Healthy brothers produce a healthy fraternity. With over 11,000 undergraduate members, our chapters are at times in need of mental and substance abuse help. Last year, we provided $146,995 for mental health, substance and alcohol abuse education to identify and prevent problems, teach intervention, and show brothers how to get the support they need.

We have always contended that the chapter environment is a powerful catalyst for developing future leaders. To that end, we granted $202,000 for leadership programs, including the values-based Leadership Institute, which is part of the Building Courageous Leaders initiative. The Leadership Institute was cancelled for 2020.

Academic Excellence

The Fraternity's cumulative GPA is 3.1. We remain in the top three fraternities in total scholarships awarded at 1,339 and amount granted at $431,800. Ten additional chapter restricted scholarships were endowed or begun this year, which strengthens our scholastic ranking.

The Academic Achievement Award (Triple A) scholarship we have funded for 20 years will come to an end on June 30, 2021. The funds used for this program will be used for different scholarships and new membership development programs which will reach a larger number of brothers.

Educational Housing

As a service to house corporations, we provided grants for construction of qualifying educational space, equipment, renovations and maintenance of $420,609. These grants are funded by generous brothers for such specific projects, sometimes over a few years, and did not come from the Foundation's general funds.

White Star Legacy Society

We are grateful to brothers who donate and plan to donate by including the Foundation in their estate plans. Many brothers have significantly impacted the Foundation with estate gifts: William T. Morris (Penn State 1949), Jerome C. "Pop" Cashion (North Carolina 1963) and Joseph B. Carney, Sr. (DePauw 1950). We were notified by 11 brothers that they had included the Foundation in their estate plans. A listing of all White Star Legacy Society members can be found on page 60.

Endowment

For years we have used an investment policy that seeks growth of our endowment, but without taking on too much risk. We forgo some of the upside in the market to protect against the eventual downside. We use endowment income/appreciation as directed by the donor to fund scholarships, leadership programs, alcohol education and general operations of the Foundation. The Foundation's principal investments were $11,479,000 at the end 2019. Current income from these investments combined with annual fund donations was enough to meet current program expenses. Additional assets of $10,609,000 are restricted for chapter scholarships and qualifying chapter building projects. As an update, on March 31, 2020, our principal assets were $10,459,000 and restricted assets were $9,755,000, a decrease of 8.6%.

The endowment funds are invested by a professional manager under the oversight of an investment committee, made up of board members and volunteer brothers experienced in financial management.

Ad Astra

Fratres Qui Fuerunt Sed Nunc Ad Astra

David L. Alexander (Purdue 1962) passed ad astra on February 26, 2020. Dave was the baseball coach at Purdue from 1978 to 1991, notching 407 wins in his career. The 1986 team set a school record with 37 wins, and his 1987 squad participated in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in the program's history. A former Boilermaker baseball player, he was inducted into the Indiana Baseball Hall of Fame in 1985. After leaving coaching in 1991, Dave was a Purdue athletics administrator until 1994 and then became a scout for the Seattle Mariners. Even as he was serving as baseball coach, his involvement with the Lambda Iota Chapter at Purdue was extensive, including nine years as Purple Legionnaire and five as House Corporation President.

William W. Bunten (Kansas 1952) passed ad astra on February 29, 2020. After graduation Bill entered the Marine Corps and served in Korea, rising to the rank of Captain. He returned to his hometown of Topeka and had a long career in business and in service to his city and state. In addition to serving on a number of boards and commissions, he served in the Kansas House of Representatives from 1962 to 1990 and in the Kansas Senate from 2002 to 2004. He served two terms as Mayor of Topeka, from 2005 to 2013. He was one of four Bunten brothers from the Pi Deuteron Chapter, the others being Robert (1950) (deceased), John (1954) and Steve (1960).

While at CMU, he founded the Summer Academy for Math and Science (SAMS), an enrichment program for under-represented minority high school students. He served on his local school board, as a trustee and elder of his church, and as a trustee of his high school alma mater, Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, New Hampshire. Fraternally Speaking

Rob Caudill,
Executive Director

A number of cliché phrases have developed during these unprecedented times as we have all been in this together and working toward a new normal during a rapidly evolving situation.

Just prior to the publication of this issue, the Fraternity celebrated its 172nd anniversary with a Day of Brotherhood – a virtual celebration of our friendships amid the COVID-19 pandemic. As the staff spent the day coordinating live video to social media and encouraging brothers to reconnect with one another, I found myself coming back to a number of fraternity sayings that are far from clichés, but speak to the spirit of Phi Gamma Delta and the source of our strength as we persevere through the challenges in front of us.

First, we believe that Friendship is the Sweetest Influence. It is the all-powerful influence which brings us together. Particularly in times of crisis, we know that we can rely on our brothers to offer a helping hand and sympathizing heart. Though often difficult for men, as Phi Gams, we allow ourselves to be vulnerable with our brothers because we know that they will accept us with a willing heart and happy spirit.

In that same spirit, our friendships are the basis of our work, and as men bound together by common values and goals, there is no limit to what we can accomplish. We recognize our call to self-sacrifice for one another and the greater good, positioning Phi Gamma Delta to have a tremendous positive impact not just on one another, but on the world around us.

Second, we believe that Phi Gamma Delta is Not for College Days Alone. Our belief is evidenced by the continued involvement and support that our graduate brothers show for the Fraternity.

We see this in the hundreds of graduate brothers who volunteer their time and talent to advise our chapters or serve on house corporations, and the thousands who make financial contributions to the Fraternity, Educational Foundation and their chapters.

This dedication is seen in other ways as well. Early this year I had the privilege of witnessing firsthand how graduates continue and renew their commitment to Phi Gamma Delta at two landmark events. In February, more than 230 graduates returned to Starkville, Mississippi, for the Sigma Mu semicentennial celebration. Just a few weeks later in early March, more than 500 Mu Iota graduates returned to Moscow, Idaho, for their chapter's centennial. In both instances, brothers left these events enthusiastic about the fraternity experience and the value of those friendships formed many years ago.

Throughout history our graduates have come forward to keep the Phi Gamma Delta spirit strong during times of crisis, and we will rely on them to continue that commitment for years to come.

Finally, and perhaps most profound for us today, is our watchword, "Perge!," meaning Press On! Dating back to our original constitution, brothers have believed that with persistence and a commitment to our values, we will succeed. Brother Calvin Coolidge famously adds to this: "The slogan Press On! has solved and always will solve the problems of the human race."

The Phi Gamma Delta spirit has endured and will endure, whatever challenge we may face. It can also give each of us comfort and a basis to move forward with confidence. ♦

THE PHI GAMMA DELTA

Spring 2020

VOLUME 141, NO. 2

Coming Soon!

Graduate Brother Data Verification Project

Phi Gamma Delta is about to embark on a comprehensive graduate brother verification project. In the coming weeks, we will be contacting all graduate brothers to help complete this project. We will be asking you to confirm the accuracy of your data and to help fill in any information gaps.

Up to date information is essential to foster brotherhood in accordance with the traditions and proud history of Phi Gamma Delta.

The Fraternity plans to make a decision regarding the 172nd Ekklesia in late May. In the event the Ekklesia is not held as planned, the Fraternity is developing contingency plans to conduct the necessary business of the Fraternity. We continue to ask brothers to hold the date August 6-9, 2020 but advise that you not book travel at this time. For more information, visit phigam.org/Ekklesia.
